

Abriel, 13
Black Pro, some high heels, Chris Brown to be allowed and midnight times."

Violet elastic-strap stilettoes, £30. (0844 8448939; next.co.uk)

Nicola Guggioli, 28, eco-store founder "A Roof RO6 helmet to go with my new Triumph. Divine dark chocolate with raspberries. A spider orchid. An Aerogarden to grow herbs, a bamboo bike and a year's deliveries of veg from Riverford Organic."

Aerogarden indoor hydroponic garden starter kit, £109.98 (0845 1707555; aerogarden.org.uk)

Jamie Jeeves, 43, property developer
"To be treated to a wet shave with all the trimmings followed by a champagne breakfast at Claridge's, then liberally sprayed with Acqua di Parma eau de cologne."

Shaving brush and chrome razor, £95, and mirror, £85. (020-7272 1765; trumpers.com)

3-D Monopoly City, £15.97, Tesco Direct (0845 6004411; tesco.com); Stig-Copter, £50, Selfridges (0800 123400; selfridges.com)

Nick Laing, 57, travel company chairman
"A Sonos wireless audio system, an Antarctic voyage, an unlimited supply of rose and violet creams, a Sony Reader Digital Book, and for all my children to be at home on Christmas Day."

Rose and violet creams, £20 for 250g, Fortnum & Mason (020-7734 8040; fortnumandmason.com)

Camilla Kemp, 35, art company founder
"Anything from One Vintage. Having not had a holiday for 18 months, two weeks in the sun with my family. And a huge photomontage of my daughter for the living room."

Vintage shirt, £590, One Vintage (020-7589 2728; net-a-porter.com)

Ben Morris, 10 "Games like Monopoly City and Simpsons Cluedo. A remote-control helicopter to fly in the park. And The Homer Book from the Simpsons Library of Wisdom."